High Prices for Fruit.

Although the fruit crop was unexpectedly cut short in California, growers are receiving such fancy prices that the year promises to be a very profitable one for orchtrdists. From the first strawberries and cherries have brought excellent prices, and now all kinds of fruit are bringing in handsome returns. Peaches are selling for $200 a ton and apricots for $300, and the canneries are paying figures they would have deemed impossible two or three seasons ago. So, it seems that a short crop does not always mean disaster to the husbandman.

ALUMNI MEETING.

The alumni meeting held on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Beeger was one of the most pleasant events in the history of Sequoia. Mrs. Beeger's handsome home was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the grounds were lavishly adorned with Chinese lanterns. Early in the evening the members of the graduating class gave an open air performance of the "Merchant of Venice up to Date an original farce written by Grace Davis and Ellen Oster. The farce abounded in local hits and was well received by the large gathering of alumni present.

At the conclusion of the play the unexpected happened. Like the Assyrian of old, a horde of husky alumni, white robed and white masked, swooped down upon the unsuspecting graduates. In a twinkling the members of the class of '06 were captured and blindfolded. They were led, with much pomp and ceremony, headed by a gorgeously decorated goat, an obstreperous donkey and the white robed knights, to a bonfire a few hundred feet away, where the main body of alumni were in waiting.

After a series of spasmodic maneuvers around the fire, the imposing procession called a halt, and then, in the ruddy glow of the flames, the class of '06 took the oath of fealty to the Amalgamated order of Alumni, renouncing forever all allegiance to Professor McCrea, the faculty and trustees of Sequoia. These impressive ceremonies concluded, Albert Mansfield was chosen temporary chairman of the meeting. Short speeches were made by Mr. Behrens for the trustees; Professor McCrea for the faculty, and H. E. Holmquist for the alumni. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Lulu Beeger; secretary, Grace Davis; treasurer, Edna Hayward. The alumni then adjourned to the Beeger home where refreshments were served and dancing indulged in till midnight.

Killed a Large Wild Cat.

While Clarence Choate and Claude Fox were after a colt on the old Hilton and Titus ranch on the mountain early Thursday morning the latter killed one of the largest wild cats seen in this section for some years. The killing was done with a twelve gauge shot gun loaded with Peters cartridge filled with No. 6 shot at a measured distance of forty yards. The cat was a beautiful specimen and was brought to town by the boys and placed on exhibition at the Arbor bar, where it was admired by many people Fox was complimented by a number of his friends on the shot which he made, as it is an unusual thing to kill so large an animal with small shot at a range of forty yards, but he bore his honors modestly, and claimed that any one else could have done equally as well with a shot gun loaded with the Peters shell. Guy P. Hull, the manager of Hull Bros., who handle the Peters cartridges was so elated over the shot that he at once secured the dead animal and placed it in the hands of Chase Littlejohn to be mounted. When it is finished it will be placed in the show window of Hull Bros., a monument to the effectiveness of the Peters amunition.

Valedictory Address

The following address was delivered by Edna Hayward at the graduating exercises of Sequoia Union High School last Friday:

(By Edna Hayward)

Sequoia, our school, takes its name from the Sequoia tree. The Sequoia gigantea, that incomparable redwood of California, was christened in honor of the only American Indian that ever invented a written language, the only Indian "Educator." Se-quo-yah, the Cherokee.

Sequoyah's mother was a Cherokee Indian who married a man named Guest, a Dutch peddler. They named their little son Sequoyah, the Indian word for "He guessed it." This appelation so strangely given referred to his father's name. Guest,but it was poetically apt in the light of later events. Sequoyah's home life progressed peacefully until his mother's death. Then he determined to seek a wife and went about his wooing in the usual Indian fashion. About this time the Cherokee captured a white man, and found upon him a letter. He explained that it was a letter from his friends and read it to them; but the Indians declared it must be a message from the Great Spirit. "No," said Sequoyah, the white man knows how to make fasthis words upon paper just as we catch a wild animal and tame it." The subject of this talking leaf interested him more and more and he finally decided to make an alphabet for his people "that they might have talking leaves of their own."

He thought as every movement, emotion or passion was represented to the ear by some peculiar sound, why should not every sound be depicted to the eye by some appropriate symbol? Did he succeed? After a great deal of labor Sequoyah did succeed in discovering an alphabet of eighty-two signs, which represented every sound of his native tongue. And more than that he succeeded in convincing his people of the accuracy and usefulness of that which he had accomplished. There could hardly be a more appropriate title for the hugest trees in the world than that of the truly great aborigine who in native ability towered so far above the men of his race. Botanists class it as the mammoth one and the largest of known conifers.

When President Roosevelt visited California he said, "Closely entwined with keeping unmarred the beauty of your great natural attractions, is the question of making use of, not for the moment merely, but for future time, your great natural products. Yesterday I saw for the first time a grove of your great trees, a grove which it has taken the ages several thousands of years to build up, and I feel most emphatically that we should not turn a tree, which was old when the first Egyptian conqueror penetrated to the valley of the Euphrates, which it has taken so many thousands of years to build up, and which can be put to better use into shingles. That, you may say, is not looking at the matter from the practical standpoint. There is nothing more practical in the end than the preservation of anything that appeals to the higher emotions of mankind."

That the Sequoians have been growing for from three thousand to four thousand years seems hardly possible but nevertheless, it is true that they have silently witnessed all the great epochs of history."

At another time President Roosevelt said, "Lying out at night under those grand Sequoians was like lying in a temple built by no hand of man—a temple grander than any human architect could, by any possibility, build and I hope for the preservation of the groves of great trees simply because it would be a shame to our civilization to let them disappear. They are monuments in themselves."

In this manner our President regard our greatest natural land mark. It is truly a tree that should inspire the highest ideals, the highest thoughts and the highest emotions.

Because of the thoughts inspired by that tree, or maybe because of the musical sound of the word, our school took the name of Sequoia.

It was, no doubt the hope of the citizens thata school would be founded that everyone should be proud of, that could develop and grow to the greatest height possible, a school that would make a name for itself.

Have they succeeded in doing this? I will answer this question by recalling in a general way some of Sequoia's history. Through the eleven years of its existence we have met with many failures, but with far more successes. One of our songs expresses the thought of a true Sequoian when it says, "We said we'd do or die, we didn't die but we did." So thro. many defeats and victories Sequoia has gradually pushed her way to the front. May she continue to grow and prosper. May she continue to carry with her that do or die spirit, the native spirit of a true Sequoian.

Today we, the class of '06 are assembled together for the last time. Today we pass from active membership in the student body to the more advanced membership of the Alumni. In our four years here, we have learned to love Sequoia dearly, and we feel a certain regret even when coupled with the pride of graduation at leaving familiar faces and familiar scenes. School lessons, class meetings, class functions and school entertainments will serve as pleasant memories to all of us of the years spent here. To our schoolmates, with whom we have enjoyed many pleasant hours, we bid farewell. To our teachers who have kindly helped us through four years of labor, we extend our thanks with the hopes that they will always remain our friends. To the trustees, who have been most kind and considerate, we bid farewell. We thank them for the kindly interest they have taken in us, and in the general welfare of this school, and its upbuilding.

Tomorrow each of us will start on different paths of life. Let us hope that each will be successful in whatever he may undertake, that all may carry with them that spirit of the true Sequoian, the courage to do or die.

COUNTY BOARD IN SESSION

Official Business Transacted by the Supervisors at Its Last Meeting.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular monthly session last Monday All members were present.

F. F. Field of South San Francisco petitioned the Board for a peddler's license to peddle teas, spices, and coffees throughout the county as provided in Ordinances No. 156 and 204. On motion of Debenedetti seconded by MacBain the matter was referred to Supervisor Eikerenkotter to ascertain if applicant had an established place of business.

G. P. Pasquinelli of South San Francisco petitioned the board for a license to peddle vegetables in the county. He has no fixed place of business. On motion of MacBain seconded by Eikerenkotter the prayer of the petition was granted.

Daniel McSweeney of South San Francisco asked to change his license from the Grand hotel to Baden hotel. The matter was laid over until the next regular meeting.

Hall Ross of behalf of the Redwood City Realty company presented a map of Portola Park, Woodside and asked the acceptance of several avenues. The map was accepted on the express condition that the county is to be put to no expense for repairs or maintenance.

The following resolution was presented by MacBain and adopted by the Board dedicating the avenues delineated on the map to public use.

Whereas, said Redwood City Realty Company, a corporation, the proprietor of a tract of land situated near Woodside,SanMateo county, California has caused the same to be surveyed, subdivided and laid out into lots for the purpose of sale, and has caused to be made an accurate map or plat thereof particularly setting forth and describing all the parcels of ground within such subdivision reserved for public purposes by their boundaries, courses and extent, and also all lots intended for sale by number of lot and their precise buondaries, said map being designated as "Map of Portola Park Woodside, San Mateo County, Cal.," and said subdivision having been made by D. Bromfield, C. E., in May 1905, and

Whereas, the Redwood City Realty Company, by Geo. C. Ross, its President, did on the 16th day of June, 1906 duly acknowledge the said map or plat before Hall C. Ross, a notary public in and for said county of San Mateo, and said notary did on said day duly affix thereto his certificate of acknowledgement in due form of law; and

Whereas, the foregoing map or plat is now presented to this board for acceptance,

Now, therefore, Resolved, That Portola avenue, Manuella avenue and Miramontes avenue as shown and delineated on said map, be, and the same are, hereby accepted on behalf of the public by the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo as dedicated to public use in accordance with an act of the legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act requiring the recording of maps of cities, towns, additions to cities or towns, or subdivisions of land into small lots or tracts for the purpose of sale, and providing a penalty for the selling or offering for sale any lots or tracts in cities, towns, additions to cities, towns subdivisions, or additions thereto, before such maps are filed and recorded. approved March 9, 1893, (Statutes of 1893, Chapter LXXX.) and as amended by amendment of section 3 of said act (Statutes of 1901, Chapter CXXIV.' and the clerk of this board is directed to endorse acceptance on said map as follows, to-wit:

"Portola avenue, Manuella avenue and Miramontes avenue as shown and delineated on the within map are hereby accepted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, on behalf of the public as dedicated to public use; in accordance with a resolution of said board adopted June 18th, 1906." and

Resolved, That this resolution is adopted and said map accepted upon and subject to the express condition that the County of San Mateo does not hereby become responsible or liable for any expense, cost or charge as to Manuella avenue or Miramontes avenue or either thereof, whether for grading, macadamizing, or for any other road purpose, this condition and incurring ofany expense,cost or charge being left to the discretion of future boards of supervisors, nor shall said Board of Supervisors, or any member thereof, or said County of San Mateo, be liable in damages in any sum or amount arising by or through any defect of any kind in saidManuella avenue or Miramontes avenue.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The board met at 1:30 o'clock pursuant to adjournment during the morning session. All members were present.

The County Auditor and Tax Collector submitted a list of double assessments, as appearing on the tax rolls of the county, and asked the cancellation of the said double assessments. The parties affected are Leopold Mowra, Geo. H. Fletcher, Owen Leddy, G. Lagamarsino and Jas. G. Mason.

On motion of MacBain seconded by Debenedetti the assessmnts were cancelled.

County Surveyor Gilbert reported with reference to the concrete bridge at Halfmoon Bay that the structure was badly injured by the earthquake and unless repairs are immediately made it might collapse. The trouble is the spreading of the wing-walls. The arch is cracked in several places and has settled some, but slight repairs can render it safe. These repairs must be attended to at once, or the structure will be liable to collapse at any time. The bridge is now in a dangerous condition.

N.P. Glann who assisted Mr. Gilbert in his examination of the bridge said that immediate action should be taken to save the structure. The longer the delay the greater the cost would be. On motion of Debenedetti seconded by Coburn the board consented to examine the bridge on Wednesday, the party to leave San Mateo at 8:30.

The San Mateo Water Works petitioned for permission to lay mains in the Hayward tract, San Mateo, together with a bond to insure the proper performance of the work, with W. W. Casey and H. N. Royden as sureties. The permit was granted.

MacBain reported in regard to clearing the debris from the new courthouse. He said there were 14 men employed on the building and that nearly $220 had already been expended.

Geo. C. Ross addressed the board saying that he had heard the opinions of many people and was certain they wanted the bond issue. As there was but little time left he suggested that the board prepare for the election at once. The statute required a special election and as the notice had to be published four weeks there was but a short time left if provisions had to be made in the taxlevy in September. It was the unanimous sentiment of the people that the bond issue be submitted to the voters of the county. Mr. Ross urged immediate action. J. J. Bullock also advised that the board act at once.

Chairman Coleman thought it unwise to go on with the bond election til such time as it was determined how much would be required to erect the building.

Debenedetti favored the bond issue and argued for immediate action.

Coburn was opposed to the election until the amount required be determined.

MacBain thought it would take $150,000 to construct the new building. On his motion seconded byEikerenkotter the district attorney wasin structed to prepare the necessary documents for the election and submit same at the next meeting. Coleman and Coburn voting no.

Mr. Ross offered his services free of charge in assisting the district attorney in preparing same.

H. H. McClocky on behalf of A. L. Whitney asked the board to make some provisions for the payment of $2000 on the new reclamation district. The matter was referred to the auditor.

MacBain presented Ordinance No. 207 and asked its adoption making it misdemeanor to bring any refuse, offal, or garbage into the county. He explained that since the destruction of San Francisco the hog raising business had almost been abondened at Colma and that it would work no hardship on any one by passing the ordinance at this time.

Eikerenkotter however, held a different opinion. He thought the immediate passage of the ordinance would be a hard ship to the hog raisers. He favored giving them some time to dispose of their stock. The order was passed on motion of MacBain seconded by Debenedetti.

C. D. Hayward was authorized to have two maps in his office repaired.

The clerk was instructed to notify W. and I. Slonae to protect their linoleum in the new courthouse.

Mr. Tyler, assistant state forester addressed the board in reference to protecting the forests of the county from fire.

The following reports of county officers were accepted and ordered filed:

Clerk— Fees collected, $57.80.

Recorder—Amount of fees earned during the month of April, $472.20; for May, no fees on account of legal holidays.

Tax Collector — Taxes collected: State and County and Redwood City for April, $42,448 25; from May 1st to June 13th the officer collected $53,746.86.

License Collector— April collection $220.; 10 per cent retained, $122; for May the amounts were $371; commissions retained, $37.10.

The Treasurer's report showed: Balance last report, $96,466.16; receipts $15,622.09; disbursements, $13,685 71 balance on hand April 30th, $98,402.60. May report; Balance on hand, $98,402.50; receipts, $766; disbursements, $7978.78. Balance, $91,189.72.

Assessor— For April and May, collections, $1800; commissions, $69.20.

The Health Officer reported for the months of April and May that the health of the county has been good, considering the general unsettled condition of affairs owing to the calamity. A marked falling off was noticed however, in the matter of burial permits of bodies brought into the county from San Francisco. Before the calamity the monthly average was about 700 bodies, $1 being charged for each permit, whereas in April 466 was the number, and in May 490 permits were issued. An increase was noted, however, in disinterment permits, for which $10 each are charged. In April 30 disinterments were authorized and in May 3, the county receiving $330 for the same.

The Sheriff's report for April showed no fees collected; mileage earned, $27.50; total number prisoners boarded, 49, cost, $275.50; for May also no fees were earned; mileage earned was $58.35; number of prisoners boarded, 39; cost, $141.50.

Street Car Franchise.

General W. H. H. Hart came before the town board last evening with a copy of the ordinance granting him a street car franchise on Middlefield road, Alma street and several lateral streets of the city. After discussing its provisions at some length he asked the board to pass it on first reading so that it could be adopted finally at the next regular meeting two weeks hence. However, several of the members wished to discuss it further and it was laid over to be taken up at a conference to be held Thursday evening.

The ordinance has been changed to some extent by the city attorney to further protect the city's interests and the discussion last evening was to familiarize the members with its present contents. A copy will be sent to the members by the general before the caucus Thursday evening.

The most serious objection raised by the general to the measure is that it requires the use of Trilby rails throughout the city. These he said would cost the company $6000 more per mile than the regular girder rail, or $42,000 for the seven miles of city lines. He asked that permission be granted to use the girder rail on the main line on Middlefield road, at least. The questions is not one of economy only, for the Trilby rail is likely to retard fast travel.

This matter was laid over for future consideration, after Trustee Dean had declared that if he voted for the ordinance at all he would not vote under any consideration for a "T" rail on a city thoroughfare.

Other provisions of the ordinance require that the usual care be taken of the roadway, that only a five cent fare shall be charged, that the road shall be operated with electricity or any other power except steam or horses and that it must be commenced within six months and completed within two years and six months after the passage of the ordinance.

The ordinance requires a bond in the penal sum of $2000 for the faithful performance of its terms.

During the discussion the general read a letter signed by Alexander Herman, of New York, president of the California Terminal company. It authorized him as Herman's attorney to secure the street railroad franchises in Santa Clara, San Mateo and San Francisco counties and urban franchises in Palo Alto and Redwood.

"In the event of your success we will undertake to finance and build street railroads over such routes," it concluded.

Trustee Duveea stated that he had taken the letter to the London, Paris and American bank in the city and learned from the officials that Herman had millions behind him and that he was not a man to write such a letter easily, and that he probably meanth usiness.

This is the first time General Hart has given definite information concerning his financial backing. He states that if the proposed franchises are granted at once the line will be constructed from Palo Alto to Redwood and beyond, before fall. The entire system, he states will reach from Monterey bay to San Francisco.

Delaware's Hundreds.

In the days when the Saxons dominated England prior to the coming of William of Normandy the people were formed into divisions of hundreds. This was done mainly for military purposes and the convenience of assembly upon the summons of the powerful earls and barons to whom the people owed allegiance. These hundreds usually consisted of ten families, each family being computed at a minimum of ten persons. In time the families increased in membership, but did not lose their individual identity or change the designation of organization. In the natural order of events these hundreds expanded into communities and ultimately into geographical divisions and took on geographical designations. Some of the American colonists adopted this form of geographical division, and thus we still have hundreds in Delaware and Virginia, although in the latter state that form of designation is but seldom used. But in Delaware hundred is universally used to describe the divisions of a county and is equivalent to the township in other states.

The Last Long Sleep.

Familiarity with death is apt to alter one's earliest conceptions of it. Two ideas are very generally accepted which experience shows to be false. One is that the dying usually fear death and the other that the act of dying is accompanied by pain. It is well known to all physicians that when death is near its terrors do not seem to be felt by the patient. Unless the imagination is stimulated by the frightful portrayal of the supposed "pangs of death" or of the sufferings which some believe the soul must endure after dissolution it is rare indeed that the last days or hours of life are passed in dread.

Most sick persons are very, very tired. Sleep—long, quiet sleep—is what they want. I have seen many people die. I have never seen one who seemed to fear death, except when it was or seemed to be rather far away. Even those who are constantly haunted while strong and well with a dread of the end of life forget their fear when that end is at hand.—Scribner's Magazine.

Uncle Joe Cannon has his hammer out for the meat inspection bill.

The Outlook to a Western Financier.

James D. Phelan, former mayor of the city of San Francisco, has been one of the most prominent figures in the organization of the effective forces which have handled so successfully the difficult problems created by the disaster of April 18th. He has written for "Progress" the following words, to business men in the East and Europe, concerning the commercial stability of San Francisco.

This message from a man of keen business judgment will command a large audience.

Phelan is the man who watched—without a trace of emotion on his face—the fire-fighters dynamite his splendid building on Market street in their vain efforts to stay the flames. Before the smoke of the blast cleared away plans for a modern steel structure were evolving in his brain:

A greater San Francisco is made inevitable by elements of permanency and of the vast interests that are bound up in this city. The site of San Francisco forms an important link in the commercial chain of the world. The immense resources of the great state of which this city is the financial and commercial center will sustain and make opulent a population that, eventually numbering many millions, must depend upon San Francisco as their chief distributing center of export and import.

San Francisco is the only important seaport on the Pacific Coast between Seattle and San Diego—adistance of 1400 miles. No other can artificially be created that can vie with it in natural advantages and accommodation. The greatest element in the rapid growth of San Francisco is probably found therein. But transcontinental railways have constructed, at great cost, lines that cross plains, mountains, rivers and lakes to share in and promote the business that centers here. This fact alone contains ample testimony to the confidence concerning our future entertained by men of money and wide observation.

Between the Missouri river and the Pacific ocean the local transportation would not support the roads. Railroad earnings on the transcontinental lines depend largely upon the extension of world commerse passing in and out through the port of San Francisco; upon the development of the great natural resources of California and the requirements and productions of her people.

Thus natural conditions and the interests of great aggregations of capital invested in transportation, in rail lines and steam and sailing vessels, contain assurances that the man of business must attentively consider when dispassionately making an estimate and forecast of the future of San Francisco.

The seaport is permanent. The shipping of the world must always come through the Golden Gate. The growth of the business of the chain of great commercial ports, among which San Francisco is of leading rank, becomes more rapid and substantial each year. Three transcontinental roads have their western termini at San Francisco and other roads will seek entrance and traffic here.

California is, essnetially, a land of economic advantages found in a series of discoveries. In addition to many standard industries inwhich California has achieved prominence, the characteristic enterprise of her people has developed new lines of manufacture and production which are destined to add largely to the wealth of the state. A certain great American statesman once declared that California could not produce wheat. Many years followed before the truth was learned that every semi-tropical fruit and every product of the temperate zone could be cultivated here in quantities sufficient to maintain a population of great size and to export to all parts of the world in addition. The history of commercialism, since the states man's somewhat famous speech, has shown how a wise man can be mistaken in attributing limits to our producing capacity in any direction.

The Spanish padres brought the olive, the grape, the orange, the lemon and other fruits from Spain to California and demonstrated that they would all grow well in the new land. Many years followed, however, before it was discovered that the fruit products of this state were so varied and could reach the huge commercial proportions revealed by recent statistics of rail and steamer transportation. The orange trains and other fruit trains of California and the movement of seasonable vegetables from this state, east bound, are the basis of commercial items of much significance Varieties of fruit, methods of culture and handling, questions of marketing and distribution, the adaptability of widely distant areas in this state to the production of all sorts of vegetation common to the lands that border on the Mediterranean—these are all discoveries. What has been learned contains useful and valuable lessons that will have profitable application for all time.

As commerce, and commercial conditions in California are permanent, so likewise are those that apply to the soil. The mineral deposits of the state are discoveries and discovery is yet in its infancy. Witness the output of mineral oil used as fuel. The past production of minerals will be surpassed by the output of the future and by many fold. Newly found substances new mining fields, new methods of economical and profitable mining, make up a good current record for the mining industry in California.

No industry based on the resources of this great state has ever failed. All are permanent.

The immediate future of San Francisco will be filled with intense activity, partly due to reconstruction and expanding commerce, and to concentration of industrial pursuits, the scope and importance of which is continually widening. Everything that is required to contribute to the permanent greatness of San Francisco is present and indestructible. San Francisco will be one of the great cities of the world and its growth, from this time, will be exceptionally rapid and solid.
